CHARMING DEVONAH SHINE, age 5, was the first child to receive a "Pinky Puppet" doll from the women of the Warren General Hospital Auxiliary on Tuesday.

From now on each child will receive one of these puppets as a pleasant gesture on their arrival to the hospital.

The puppets are very versatile and should provide many enjoyable moments for the youngsters.

Members of the hospital auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. H. L. MacBride (l.), along with several outside groups, made the dolls by hand. With Mrs. MacBride in the photo are Miss Mary Craft, center, and Mrs. Merle Kremer.

Parking, Street Sales, Awnings, And Floods

Ten thousand dollars were appropriated to the Warren parking authority by council Monday evening for the purpose of constructing a metered lot on the old island and millrace at the foot of Liberty st. It also voted to provide up to $2,000 worth of borough employe labor. The Warren Chamber of Commerce is putting up another $10,000. Cost of the project is over $100,000, including meters. It will be paid off well within twenty years. . . . if people use it.

Council also settled the Conewango ave. parking problem by establishing parking on the east side only, from East Fifth to the borough limits. The ordinance change also included a switch of parking on Rankin to the north side, and minor changes in parking areas on Third and Water to make trucking easier.

An old 1906 ordinance which conflicts with a modern law was changed so that hawkers can not sell on Warren streets, but concessions can operate on public grounds if licenses are obtained. The original law involved stands, merry-go-rounds shooting galleries, and striking machines. It now will cost you fifty cents a day if you want to give stogies away to bell-ringers.

A resolution was passed which permits the Reliable Furniture store to erect a metal awning, eight feet above the sidewalk, equipped with gutters, not to extend six feet beyond the property line, and fully covered by personal liability and property damage insurance for $100,000 and $10,000, respectively. Council intends to pass an ordinance which will automatically regulate the erection of metal awnings. The Reliable awning will resist wind pressure up to 70 miles an hour and will have sufficient snowload strength.

Council received a request from the Civil Defense Council of Pennsylvania for money to pay half the rehabilitation cost and rent for the old Sherwood Refinery property which is to be used for defense equipment storage and training. The county will pay the other half. Rent totals $60 a month and rehabilitation will cost about $1042. The finance and defense committees will study the proposal.

Borough Manager George Geracimos announced that $40,000 will be received from the state for flood damages. He also said that Indian Run will not be considered until Glade Run improvements are started. These are expected to start in September.

The fire prevention code ordinance was passed on third reading. Councilman Carbon asked for a series of informative publicity releases so that the public will be informed concerning the new regulations and innocent offenders will not be prosecuted.

Councilman Yagge asked for stop signs on Lincoln ave. intersections. He also said residents of S. Irvine st. want to know if Dan's Chevrolet can use its lot on that street for junking purposes. They want it cleaned up. Mr. Yagge's building and lands committee was given the investigative job.

The visitors, who are just wrapping up a three-month stay in this country learning forestry practices and logging methods, are responsible to the central government of Spain for their respective regions. They are here through the International Cooperation Program.

According to the latest figure, approximately 1,500,000 people enter the work force of the United States annually. Eighty-two percent of these working men and women read a newspaper every day.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

THE WATER BATTLE

The fact that influential citizens of New York state now are getting into the dam act definitely uncovers the truth this writer has been trying to pry loose for many years. With the Indians about to lose a court fight, and Western Pennsylvania acting in unison to save its water supply, New York individuals and groups are reaching forth their hungry fingers in an effort to take it away from us.

The story of the Kinzua dam is far more than flood control, as we have reported several dozen times in the past two decades. Our water supply is diminishing and each area needs every drop that by nature belongs to it.

These various watersheds have created communities, industry, and related development. To remove the water supply, or even to diminish it, would change the economy of an entire area, with results similar to those seen in communities where other natural resources, such as oil and timber, have been depleted.

The engineers did not originally recommend the dam for flood control. It was a part of a study which encompassed the entire Ohio river supply system, which in turn feeds into the Mississippi and makes up the nation's major series of water arteries.

The engineers were concerned with the assurance of a continued flow of water, made as clean and as stable as possible through various controls. A major part of this system was the Allegheny reservoir, which we choose to call the Kinzua dam.

The value of such a dam is immeasurable, as has been proved by every similar construction. If you suddenly change a river which goes from the extremes of angry flood to sullen summer tepidity, and make it a friend in all seasons, the advantages are so varied and extensive that no one can anticipate the full impact.

Clean water invites use by industry and vacationers. Safe water encourages the construction of homes, permanent and summer. Even flow saves lives, property, and makes possible many water activities.

The combination of adequate water and the construction of sewage plants results in a bacteria count per cubic foot that is sufficiently low to assure a much healthier condition for the entire area. The elimination of diseases originating in a foul river might not be complete, but it certainly would be greatly abetted. Even river transportation, some of whose backers have bucked the dam, would benefit. They would have water, a rather important item in their life which today is missing a major share of the months, including much of winter and some of late summer and early fall. If engineers can go over the hump into New York state they can go around a dam.

A VALUE WHICH ESCAPES US

Few people fully realize the value of one benefit which is derived from a clean and steady river. At least this is true of the people in this area. But New York state groups are very much alert to its value and are belatedly coming out from behind their Indian vanguard to openly fight for the necessary water supply.

We are referring to recreation. Not many among us seem to realize the millions of dollars it would be worth if this section were made very attractive to a good class of vacationers.

The difference between this kind of income and any other you can name is that it is all income and almost no outgo. They save their money for a year and they spend it on their weeks off. They leave it where they go. The biggest gainers are those who deal in gasoline, oil, and automotive supplies. Much also is spent for food, real estate, and various vacation equipment.

Most important, the money stays right here.

New York state would like to have it stay right there. Will we let them win?

WHO KNOWS?

The question confronting all of us down through the years is how do we know what is the best method for controlling the streams. We find that the engineers are on our side in this case. Their national plan fits into our future. Any change that would divert water to New York state is unnatural and is much more costly.

It has been reasoned that the creation of a lake in the Conewango valley in New York state would result in a recreational facility, floods would be eliminated, and excess waters would be taken into Lake Erie.

But we want those excess waters. We want them stored so that they can be used in the low-water months.

We also expect that many towns and thousands of people in New York state who would be inconvenienced by required dyking and the moving of their homes would make more fuss than we have heard from the Indians. We envision that by the time the law is changed, another one passed, and the diversion idea put across few of us would be around to reap the benefits and the damage from floods would mount to many more millions, plus the loss of industry now with us, and the further loss of potential millions which new industry will provide.

The engineers have no state fires to tend. They say the water belongs to the Allegheny. Private engineers, with one exception, have agreed with them.

There are signs that Pennsylvania finally is awakening to the facts and perhaps we can save our water supply despite the blindness and selfishness which has fogged our thinking for too many years. This fight must be pressed in Washington where it counts . . . among the rolling logs, and in the corridors.

DIMINISHING EGALITARIANISM

Some times we wonder if this wonderful nation of ours is making much effort to assure the equality of the individual. We recently read that five per cent of the population has about fifty per cent of the wealth, and another five per cent has a hard time feeding its families. But no one wants it otherwise because the lower five per cent always dreams of some day becoming a part of the upper five per cent.

Now we face a steel strike. We don't know who is wrong in this case but we do know that the steelworkers average over $3 an hour and the steel mills made over $100 million dollars the first quarter of this year. Who should give?

At the same time we feel resentment toward hospital employees who go on strike in New York City. But these people have a real problem, and how else are they to solve it if we do nothing about it while they work peacefully.

Their problem is that they live in our biggest city and draw down less than $40 a week. They are supposed to receive less than a dollar an hour to care for others who work far less time and receive $3 an hour.

You can find this kind of inequality throughout the nation. The result is that even among the working people you hear less sympathy for a steel strike than usually is the case.

Most of those who are being paid far less than the steel employees are happy to even have a job following the recent recession (and maybe not so recent). Now, they face the possibility that they may be laid off during the steel strike and when they go back to work the cost of living will hit them harder than ever.

Any kind of wage raise in steel certainly will be followed by a similar one in related lines and also a jump in the cost of steel. Up will go cars, appliances, and all items which are made by machinery that will have increased in price. The family which has been out of work and is behind in its bills suddenly finds itself also paying a higher cost to live while it attempts to pay up its debts.

It can be argued that steel is at fault and can give a raise without changing its prices. But arguments do not feed and clothe families, and the employees today who are living on as little as a third of the steelworkers' pay can not be expected to view the current dispute with much compassion for either side.

Both steel and its workmen would make the entire nation much happier if they would settle for the fact that comparatively they are far ahead of the nation's average, either in profit or wages. Most of us see very little sacrifice represented in these areas of our economy. ***

BIG ELECTRIC PUSH

You will be urged to Live Better Electrically next September through a campaign financed by utilities and manufacturers. The biggest ad splash of all will be a thirty-page section in Life's September 14 issue.

(And all of us little fellows hope for a few stray watts, if we can sell them.) ***

SELF SERVICE REQUIRES CLERKS

If there is one experience in shopping that irks us it is to visit a self service store in which the clerks act as though they were fixtures or a part of the architectural decor. While you spend precious minutes searching through a labyrinth, clerks often stand passively by chatting among themselves or staring off into their labeled horizon.

Self service is fine, if alert clerks are present and learn to recognize a "lost" customer. Twice recently we have walked out of self service stores and no one has bothered to ask if we were happy with our visit. We weren't, and stores with plenty of browsing counters but also with clerks who acted as though they were paid to work made the sales, quickly and easily. ***

BEER SLIPS

There are some hopsters who are concerned about the per capita consumption slump of beer in this nation. So much so that you no doubt will hear and read more appeals to your thirsty tastes. It seems that our beer drinking has receded from 18.6 gallons per person in 1945 to 15 gallons in 1958.

In Belgium the consumption is 37 gallons per person, in West Germany it is 21.7 gallons, and in England it is 21.4. But maybe they don't have Pepsi, or coke, or just plain good water. Or maybe they need an escape. ***

NOT CURES

The FCC has cracked down on a pair of products dealing with your bad health. The makers of Arthrycin capsules have been told to stop saying they will permanently relieve severe pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and related conditions.

And the makers of Regimen-Tablets are charged with misrepresenting the effectiveness and safety of them as a weight-reducing preparation. The complaint says, "no specific number of pounds can be lost in a given period by taking Regimen-Tablets, and those taking it cannot lose weight without dieting while continuing to eat the customary kinds and amounts of food."

When he failed to return his family and friends commenced a search and were joined at 10 o'clock last night by the Russell Vol. Fire Dept. His car was located, but no trace of the man was found along the stream or road in the area.

This morning's search was scheduled to start at 9 o'clock.

The incident happened shortly after midnight at a camp at Bimbers Corners.

LOSES LIFE. A sad atmosphere fell over the community last Monday night when it was learned that Mrs. Helen Sasso Massa, 42-year-old wife of Warren high school athletic director and basketball coach Joseph Massa, had been killed when the couple's station wagon collided head-on with a second vehicle near Cassadaga, N.Y.

The couple were returning from a plant buying trip near Fredonia, N.Y., about 9 a.m. when a car operated by Russell Hutchinson, 26, of Buffalo, allegedly went out of control and swerved into their path.

Mr. Massa, 48, seriously injured with internal and external injuries, was reported improved in Jamestown WCA Hospital Wednesday. The other driver was taken to a Dunkirk, N.Y., hospital in critical condition.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Massa's survivors include two high school students, Joseph, Jr., and Jean.

SENTENCED. After agreeing to a trial by court when he appeared before a trial jury at the Warren County Court House Monday, Nicholas Antonuccio, Elk Co., on Wednesday was found guilty to a resisting arrest charge. He was sentenced to two days in the county jail, ordered to pay costs of prosecution, and fined $200.

Two others on Monday switched their pleas from not guilty to guilty and received sentences. Robert Collins, Warren, for corrupting the morals of a minor, costs, $50 fine, and 30 days in jail. Robert Putnam, Hemlock rd., for drunken driving, costs, 1 day and a $100 fine.

JURIES FOR CIVIL COURT will be selected Monday at the county court house.

CO. I CHANGE. It has been learned that Warren's National Guard Unit, Company I of the 28th Infantry Division, effective June 1 will combine with Corry's Company F to form Company D, First Battle Group, 112th Infantry.

The change is being made by an Army maneuver which is revising the whole 28th Infantry Division into a special and more efficient division.

Capt. Phillip D. Maines, Warren, will be commander of the new company.

Warren State Armory will serve as headquarters for the first rifle platoon. Weapons and one rifle platoon will be located at Corry.

Organized in Warren before World War I, Company I was last rejuvenated here on October 12, 1953, after the Korean Conflict.

A DOUBLE CHARGE was made against Donald Offi, 16, of Kinzua, after his car struck a telephone pole at the corner of Sixth and Henry streets about 11:20 p.m. last Thursday night. Following the crash the operator proceeded until he crossed the Fifth st. bridge and parked behind a large cinder pile there.

He was charged for driving without an operator's license and for leaving the scene of an accident. Pat Feronti, 23, Warren passenger, was arrested for permitting a violation. He was also treated for a lacerated lip.

Damage to the car was $700 and $100 to the pole.

CAR-BUS CRASH. About $250 in damage was caused around 8 o'clock Monday morning when Joyce C. Leonard, R. D. 1, Clarendon, pulled out of Crescent st. and was struck in the side by a school bus driven by Floyd A. Landers, 449 Prospect st.

The Clarendon woman saw the bus too late and stalled her car in an effort to hurry out of its path.

WARREN NATIONAL Guardsmen will camp out at the State Armory the night of July 31st and pull out the next morning for their annual encampment at Indiantown Gap.

TRAFFIC ARREST. C. A. Sampson, 11 Monroe st., started to proceed through the green light at the Fifth and Market streets intersection at 10:20 Wednesday morning when he was hit broadside by Clemmer Bean, R. D. 1, Spring Creek, causing $500 damage in all.

Sampson was moving east on Fifth and Bean south on Market. Bean was charged with the traffic light violation.

A PAIR OF MISHAPS at the same scene just north of Tidioute on Rt. 62 Sunday afternoon resulted in injury to six persons.

About 1:40 p.m. Jerry Chilcott, R. D. 1, Russell, was making a pass and went into a skid when he tried to avoid an oncoming auto driven by Wayne Skinner, Corry. Chilcott's vehicle struck the latter. As a result of the wreck Chilcott, Mrs. Maxine Skinner and Mrs. Fanny Swanson, Corry, were admitted to the hospital with injuries sustained in the crash. Mr. Skinner and Theodore Swanson, Corry, escaped with only minor injuries.

Moments later Joseph Conato, of West Hickory, piled into a parked machine owned by Lucius Flasher, Youngsville, which was stopped at the scene of the accident. The West Hickory man required treatment to minor injuries.

TRAGEDY STRUCK Sunday afternoon at a family gathering on Sutton Hill, five miles from Tidioute, when a 36-year-old mother of four children fell from a highlift and died from internal injuries.

The woman, Mrs. Wanda Pillar, wife of Joseph Pillar, R. D. 1, Tidioute, was posing with her sister-in-law for a picture in the bucket of the highlift. Somehow the scoop tipped and sent the pair to the ground. Mrs. Adam Bosko, 31, the sister-in-law, was admitted to Warren General Hospital for injuries sustained in the fall.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN. May 18-23 is National Mailbox Improvement week and the post offices urge rural patrons to have their boxes properly mounted and maintained. It is especially important that boxes be properly identified by name in letters at least one (1) inch high, that they are secured and properly mounted with approaches in good condition so the carrier can reach them easily from his vehicle.

TWO NEW CASES brought the total under care of the Warren Visiting Nursing Association to 56 in April. Nurses' visits totaled 290 for the month.

UNEMPLOYMENT Compensation checks disbursed during last week totaled 228,090 with a monetary value of $6,218,090. Respective figures for the previous week were 239,600 and $6,546,089.

en an opportunity, are fascinated by the field which seeks such posts as county sheriff, prothonotary, and county commissioner. With so fat an entry at the post the question arises, do we have a Republican organization or don't we? Answer that and you might pick the winners.

There are some who suspect that the flood of hopefuls indicates we do very much have a subtle organization working in this primary. Though no hand is shown and many committeemen seem lost as to whom they should support, a thin spread of votes often lends strength to the chosen men who otherwise would be easy victims in a dual contest.

Because the incumbent prothonotary is having his day in court, there are some who say he is vulnerable. But the straight party mind though it may not be told what lever to pull may react in favor of the incumbent who it assumes is the machine's man. Inherent loyalty to a party also is apt to develop a resentment against any attacks.

This same type of thinking may obtain in the commissioner and sheriff contests where incumbents perhaps will appeal to the party mind.

The importance of personal contact also may determine the results in this rampage for public office. The personable candidate who rings the most doorbells and has been the most active in various circles can upset even the strongest of organizations. Inasmuch as no strong GOP hand is evident, the individual who makes the most friends and influences the most people could scratch out a successful margin.

In at least two races the bookies find themselves faced with a straight mathematical problem. The Republican registration is 4,662 in Warren and 7,338 in the county. Warren candidates must win in their own community and overcome the natural majority in the rural areas. This applies to the register and recorder contest and the county treasurer situation.

We believe Blain Mead will lead the GOP commissioner aspirants. The question then remains, what will happen to the other incumbent, L. L. Johnson? The votes to beat him may be well distributed among Clarence Akeley, Chris Yutze, and Frank Darrow. However, any one of these may have done enough campaigning to top the other three. Again personal contact vs. incumbency, a very negative incumbency in this case, determines the decision.

The only real sign of a contest in the Democrat primary occurs in the commissioner race. Four are after the two nominations, and there will be some who will wonder if the Republicans are up to their old twist of having a friend run for the Democrat seat. In the November contest they would split enough votes in a few wards to push their boy into the post.

But they may not be that confident today. Not as confident as they were in the days when they actually asked various Democrats to run for the office, and could almost promise them the job.

The large field is an assist to the incumbent, Lewis L. Crippen. His term has been of so positive a nature that he is bound to earn enough support to win one of the two spots. If he doesn't, the rejuvenation of the Democrat party which seems well on its way will suffer a major set-back.

The Republican scramble for sheriff is a wide-open affair with every aspect we have mentioned applied to the outcome, incumbent deputy, past deputy, a man with experience, and a bell ringer.

It is an important election because it involves most of your major county offices. And certainly among that array of would-be's you have at least one friend you would like to help.

There also is fluoridation in Warren and Youngsville. This has not offered the heat that some expected, but it certainly will move a few to vote who otherwise might stay home.

The vote also may be a little intense in Conewango twp. where the wish to sell alcohol has put that question on the ballot.

School Board Extends School Term, Approves Ground Breaking Ceremony

Students attending Warren area and borough schools will attend classes 185 days next term as a result of action taken at the meeting of the Warren Area Joint School Board Monday night. The additional five days were added to permit more time for completing classwork after the joint committee and individual boards gave several months of study to the matter.

The board also approved the ground breaking ceremony for the new high school. This event will take place at 2 o'clock this Saturday afternoon at the so-called Swick site. The rain date is 3 p. m. Sunday.

Myron E. Jewell was re-elected treasurer for the school year July 6, 1959, to July 4, 1960, and his bond was set at $2,500.

Approval was given the following Class of 1959 commencement schedule: May 27 -- caps and gowns to be issued; 28 -- senior class dinner; 30 -- junior-senior prom; 31 -- baccalaureate services in Grace Methodist Church; June 1 -- last day of school for seniors; 2 -- senior picnic at Conneaut Lake Park; 4 -- commencement exercises at Beaty; 5 -- last day of school, 2:30 p. m. The class has chosen the Rev. J. Reed Hurst, Epworth Methodist Church, as speaker for the baccalaureate service.

Bills approved by the board amounted to $16, recreational services; $480, substitutes employed; $402, special services; $850, janitors' overtime; $7,815, cafeteria bills; $6,481, bills reported by the finance committee; $471, bills written during the month.

Permission was given for Mrs. Edith McComas to take a delegation of girls to the state Future Homemakers of America convention at State College May 8-10; for the Dragon Band to take part in the Memorial Day parade; for Mr. Beck to pay any teachers retiring or resigning in full with the June check if so requested; for Eisenhower high school student Philip Ingerson to take distributive education in Warren high next year with the former school responsible for the tuition.

The board approved its officers to serve as the teacher's committee; Nancy Ann Jaynes, a high school student who is ill, was granted in-home training; the firm of Lawrie and Green was employed to develop plans for some minor modifications on the stairways at Beaty as required by the Dept. of Labor and Industry; the Barbershoppers were given permission to use Beaty auditorium for a regional quartet contest on April 30, 1960.

Approval of the buildings and grounds committee report included summer maintenance at high school and Beaty, work to be done on the house at 345 E. Fifth ave. to make it ready for school district offices which will be moved from the high school building to help make room for the 100 additional pupils anticipated in the student enrollment at the school next year.

A guidance department report on last year's graduating class (98 per cent reporting) indicated that 44.3 per cent were in college or some type of advance study, nine per cent were in military, and 39.5 per cent were employed.

Books were recommended for adoption for eighth grade history, ninth grade math, 7-8-9 grade dictionaries, 7-8 grade music, biology, German II, senior health, salesmanship, Spanish I-II, and world history.

The request to purchase lumber from the Forest County Wood Products Co. for $52.90 was approved.

Adult season tickets will be sold for $8.00, while student tickets are priced at $3.00, including tax. The artists selection committee hope to present a four-concert series next season. The number of concerts will depend on the outcome of the Membership Drive, which begins next week and extends until June 1.

The crowning ceremony is one of the highlights of the Jaycee-sponsored Fourth of July Celebration.

Anyone is eligible to nominate candidates for this high honor and all are urged to do so. Any girl who is at least 18 years of age and unmarried is an eligible nominee. # PEACE COSTS MONEY

If we could give our loved ones just one thing, most of us would choose peace. But peace costs money. Money for military and industrial strength. Money for science and education. And money saved by individuals to keep our economy strong. Every U. S. Savings Bond you buy helps strengthen America's Peace Power. Buy them where you work, where you bank, or (with Savings Stamps) where you go to school. But buy as many as you can!

Mr. Powley has been representing Nationwide in the Warren area since 1950.

Play Time

DRAMA - TV - RADIO - MUSIC - READING - HOBBIES

BIG TIME

Two unusual attractions are being booked into Warren by the Junior Chamber of Commerce this coming season. The concert series highlight will be the Roberto Iglesias Spanish ballet. The company of forty from Madrid, Spain, will come to Warren October 9, direct from a New York city run.

The other big day will be November 28 or December 5, when the Canadian Players will be brought in for matinee and evening performances. Composed of the actors who make the Stratford Festival a major success every summer, they will present "The Cherry Orchard" in the afternoon and "Romeo and Juliet" in the evening.

AND EDUCATION, TOO

If you would like to do a bit of summer studying with credits for your work and at the same time enjoy good music, drama, and lectures, Chautauqua is setting up an interesting program for its 86th season. The major attraction for many will be the forty-one courses provided by Syracuse university, from July 6 to August 14.

They will be offered in the general areas of education, liberal arts, applied music, fine arts, arts and crafts, journalism, and home economics. To these has been added the Chautauqua Choral Workshop. A news release dealing with the courses available says in part:

"Of special interest to nurses and dental hygienists in the Chautauqua area will be work in nutrition and applied sociology needed for permanent certification.

"Work in audio-visual education which meets a requirement of the Pennsylvania Department of Instruction is expected to attract many teachers from that state. It is equally useful to teachers from other states.

"Students who are working for a master's degree in education at Syracuse University may take up to 24 hours of graduate work at the Chautauqua Center. Since education courses meet certification requirements of the various states, students encounter no difficulty in transferring credits to other schools.

"Pre-registration counseling for teachers from the Chautauqua area will be available one week end in the spring. This date will be announced later.

"The Chautauqua Center program is administered by the School of Education at Syracuse University and University College, the adult education division."

RUDEL HONORED

Julius Rudel, director of the New York City Center Opera Company and general director of the Chautauqua Opera Association, has received the $1,000 Alice M. Ditson Award for 1959 from Columbia university. It was established in 1940 for "the aid and encouragement of American musicians."

Mr. Rudel opens the Chautauqua season July 17 with "The Taming of the Shrew". The other five productions will be "Madame Butterfly", "Wuthering Heights", "Rigoletto", "The Bartered Bride", and "Brigadoon".

BAND OF RENOWN

Les Brown and his "Band of Renown" also will be heard at Chautauqua this summer, the evening of July 16. This band was with Bob Hope for a dozen years and appeared with him about 1,000 times.

The Brown musicians have about sixteen albums going now, and have the record for the most appearances in the Hollywood Palladium, 75 in seventeen years. It also brought in the Palladium's biggest paying audience.

Since 1953 the band annually has won most of the first place band honors, last year's awards including Downbeat's poll, Metronome's Band of the Year vote, Billboard's popularity poll, National Ballroom Operators Association's top swing band choice, and Billboard's choice of its Concert at the Palladium album as the best of the year.

THE PLAYS YOU CAN SEE

The plays which will be presented this summer by the Chautauqua Repertory Theatre offer a variety. They start on July 8 and 10 with A. A. Milne's "The Perfect Alibi".

The succeeding weeks will offer; "Uncle Vanya" by Anton Chekov, July 15 and 18; "The Diary of Anne Frank" by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett; July 23 and 25; "Pictures in the Hallway" by Paul Shyre, July 30 and August 1; "Macbeth" by you know whom, August 6 and 8; "The Magnificent Yankee" by Emmet Lavery, August 13 and 15; "No Time for Sergeants" by Ira Levin, August 20 and 22.

This will be the second year the Chautauqua plays have run for seven weeks. The extension proved popular last year and should be even more attractive this.

WBEN-TV OBSERVES 11th YEAR

This area's first television station, WBEN-TV, marks its 11th anniversary today (Thursday). For a number of years the area that depended solely on Channel 4 for viewing entertainment included western New York State, populous regions of Ontario and areas of northern Pennsylvania.

WBEN-TV was the 25th station operating in the U. S. Today there are more than 500. It was the first station to transmit network color programs (summer 1954) and first to originate local color shows (October 1954). Channel 4 is still the only Buffalo station which can originate local "live" and film color programs, and the only station possessing a mobile unit for remote telecasts.

PRIME EVENING TIME FOR INFORMATIONAL PROGRAMS

CBS television network has announced plans to expand informational programming on a regular basis in prime evening time on the CBS network starting this fall when regular hour-long informational broadcasts will be presented once a month in the choice evening hours. In the following year, the network proposes to telecast such shows twice a month and finally, make it a weekly policy.

On very rare occasions, programs of this type have been telecast in the evening, example: "Why Berlin?", last Friday night. The networks are so cautious, so slow to rise to the challenge, and so sure that only a very small segment of viewers think and then only on Sunday afternoon. A factual, timely and well-done informational program, we believe, will hold its own anytime in competition with mediocre westerns and private-eyes.

Sponsors and advertisers have been blamed in the past by the industry for the poor quality of television programs which enjoy prime evening scheduling. But, in the past few weeks, it has been disclosed that the networks actually dictate what will be seen. For instance,

"Voice of Firestone" has been turned down by all three networks although the advertiser is perfectly willing to pay the price of prime evening time. The reason given reveals the networks' responsibility: they believe a program which attracts only a limited viewing public weakens the evening schedule and loses other viewers to competitive networks.

More Roads To Recovery

With the theme "More Roads to Recovery," Pennsylvania's 337 hospitals are observing National Hospital Week May 10-16. In many areas where busy schedules in crowded hospitals permit, the public is being invited to tour hospital buildings, particularly the more than 200 which have been modernized during the last ten years.

By speaking of "roads to recovery," the hospitals emphasize that they are not mere workshops for doctors but actually institutions where whole teams of people contribute to the patient's welfare. Dietitians, medical technologists,

X-ray technicians, medical photographers, record librarians, accountants, biostatisticians, serologists, social workers, and more than 100 other specialists are to be found working in the larger medical centers.

On the roads to recovery are devices unknown as recently as World War II with such jaw-breaking names as "electroencephalographs," "electrodynic cardioscopes," "scintillation photoscanners," and their ingenious cousins.

Statistics from the Pennsylvania Department of Health show the results. Thirty years ago one out of every 13 babies died during their first year; today only one out of 40 dies. Maternal deaths have dropped from 92 in 10,000 in 1918 to 4.3 in 10,000 in 1957. Tuberculosis deaths have dropped in thirty years from 138 per 100,000 to 8. Thousands from cancer and heart disease survive. Thousands more are cured in the great mental hospitals. Life expectancy has jumped from 59 to 69 in the last three decades.

A big barricade stands, however, on the road to recovery in Pennsylvania. This is the problem of financing care. Each hospital worker must be reimbursed for the years spent receiving special training. Each great diagnostic laboratory and therapeutic device costs large sums of money. Each big building costs large sums to build and maintain. A low-priced car cost $800 and a six room house $5,000 30 years ago. Each costs three times as much today and the same price rise has captured hospital buildings and machines.

Another factor, no problem with house builders and car manufacturers, has caught the non-profit hospitals. Unlike their profit-making business brethren, hospitals traditionally give away many of their services. The gift last year cost the 185 hospitals which report their statistics to the State $32 million. Fortunately, money was appropriated by the Commonwealth and by many local governments and community chests. However, deducting all these sums the 185 hospitals still were left with $16 million in deficits for this work -- a difficult block on the road to recovery.

The effect of a $16 million loss is to channel every available dollar into paying that bill -- to the neglect of more adequate wages, new equipment, more modern facilities and the hiring of skilled workers to help all patients in their recovery.

During National Hospital Week the institutions are making known the serious state of their finances and are asking support for the plea that the State government appropriate more realistic amounts for the care of charity patients. An appropriation which would pay only two-thirds of the cost of indigent care, rather than the 45 per cent now being provided, would benefit immediately and directly the 1.5 million Pennsylvanians who will enter Pennsylvania hospitals this year. They have a right to expect and find the most modern life-saving equipment and the best-trained persons available standing ready to speed their recovery.

National Hospital Week... May 10-16

FROM TIME TO TIME the Observer camera has brought to the public photographs of newly installed equipment or improved changes made at Warren General Hospital. As May 10-16 has been proclaimed National Hospital Week a visit to the institution Tuesday left us with these new pictures.

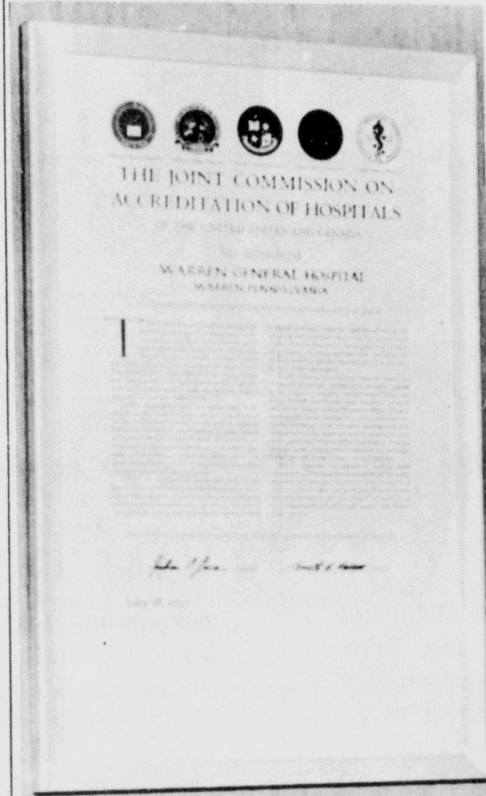

Above you see (l. to r.) Mrs. H. L. MacBride, Mrs. Merle Kremer, administrator Joseph Williamson, and Miss Mary Craft in the newly decorated living room for senior nurses. The photo does not show the complete comfort and softness of the room which the Hospital Auxiliary members remodeled as one of their many projects. We also mention here that the halls and many rooms of the hospital are in the process of being redecorated with a colorful scheme somewhat familiar to that of the new rehabilitation clinic.

WARREN GENERAL HOSPITAL is one of the few in Northwestern Pennsylvania to have available for patients the Ventalung. This piece of equipment is an intermittent pressure positive breathing unit, which, when necessary, can actually breathe for the patient without any effort on the part of the patient. In the photo is Walter Ondrizek, general technician at the institution.

INCREASED SANITATION steps have been seen at the hospital the last few months. The operating room is being expanded to assist in this program, as well as to offer more facilities. This is the sterilization room. Technician Ondrizek is at the sterilization machines. In the background you can see shelves filled with equipment of every nature which may suddenly be needed in the operating room. At the right is a water distilling unit.

THIS CERTIFICATE in the Warren General Hospital lobby indicates it is an accredited institution with The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

THE ELECTRO CARDIOGRAPH machine is not a new piece of equipment in the hospital by any means, but the utility cart on which it sets has been provided to offer more adequate operation of the machine when it is moved to the patient's bedside. Miss Evelyn Johnson, technician, is pictured with the machine at the hospital's Heart Station.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby

(John Crosby is on vacation. While he is away his column will be written by guest columnists from the television trade.)

A PLUG FOR ALEX

By Alexander King

When I told my friends at the beginning of the year that I planned to go on some television programs to help publicize my book, "Mine Enemy Grows Older," I must say a couple of them seemed genuinely alarmed.

"You'd better not," they advised me. "Remember how careless and outspoken you are, and it's just going to land you in a mess of trouble."

Well, a lot of television time has gone by since then and so far nothing untoward has happened either to me or to the TV channels. It occurs to me that most of the people who were so concerned for me probably don't spend much time watching their television screens, or they would have realized how much raw stuff you can actually get away with these days. I find that particularly the sponsors and their advertising minions are as bold as cops and shameless as streetwalkers. I, myself, happened to be on one program where in the course of the commercial, a desperately blonde, anemic tootsie gave visual demonstration of the tactile suavety and tensile strength of her favorite toilet tissue. I really can't imagine what I could possibly have said or done to match this extraordinary piece of commercial public-spiritedness.

And yet, a couple of sensitive television critics DID land on me a few times for being overtly and unnecessarily vulgar. I wonder what these characters can possibly be doing while certain animated commercials are disemboweling mankind in front of everybody's eyes and rubbing in the fact that most of us are pretty careless about our constantly deteriorating apertures.

These boys really have me stopped cold.

I guess you can be as sordid as you please provided the halo of salesmanship hovers around your temples.

It seems really silly that there should be so many taboos confronting me when you consider I never appear before eleven o'clock at night when most of the kiddies are probably asleep anyway. It must be that there are millions of people listening to every broadcast who are just hopefully waiting for their sensibilities to be lacerated. These cases of arrested development seem to be watching their TV screens with ballpoint pens poised in their twitching fingers ready to send off an illiterate barrage of protest every time a full grown adult appears before them and doesn't bother buttering them up.

Another point that my anxious friends were busily warning me about in those early days was the treacherous and unpredictable nature of Jack Paar on whose show I made my first professional appearance. "He'll love you for a while," they told me, "but in the end he'll just loathe you like he does everybody else."

Actually, I couldn't have cared less. After all, I wasn't planning to marry the guy, was I? So now, after four months have gone by since I first talked on Paar's program, I'd like to hand in this report which is sure to prove quite unpopular among some of the nicest and best-intentioned people I know. My very best friends, in fact.

Jack Paar has been consistently kind and considerate to me from the time I first appeared on his show, and he has been unfailingly courteous and thoughtful of me ever since. He is, of course, an extremely nervous and hypersensitive man for whom each of his nightly appearances represents a major ordeal; and yet despite his personal and private agony, he somehow manages to convey to his vast audience a sense of complete casualness and astonishing control.

I also notice that nobody who has so far written about him, has bothered to give him any credit for his absolutely fantastic gift of showmanship. Now please don't argue about this. Remember, I was there more than ten times and I watched it right at home plate. What's more I'm not just paying off a social or financial obligation here. I'm telling what I really think and if you don't like it, you're all free to go fishing on other channels for tastier fluke.

As a matter of fact, by and large, I think his show is the most completely satisfactory performance on all the networks for the simple reason that it is about eighty per cent improvisation, and has a quality most lacking in television, its unusual and wonderful moments of spontaneity and surprise. Television could use a lot more of this sort of stuff, but there just aren't any emcees around who would dare to ride that kind of a wild bronco.

At this point, I think I should pay proper homage to the monitors, sponsors, and managerial agents who run station WNTA. These boys have stood solidly behind me from the beginning, and through all these upsy-downsy weeks have not even once admonished me to mend my strange, meandering ways. So far, so good.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES -- GARRETTSVILLE, O., AND WARREN, PA.

By Lewis Crippen

Last week end, the writer visited Garrettsville, Ohio, where tooth decay has been partially prevented by naturally fluoridated water. Warren, Pennsylvania, and neighboring Youngsville, will vote next Tuesday whether the same benefits shall be extended to our youngest residents and, more important, to those yet unborn.

This feature is no attempt to answer scientifically all the questions about fluoridating water. It is just an attempt to introduce you to the citizens of Garrettsville, Ohio, and let you see, in pictures, the happy people and read in print their quoted statements. The medical, dental, and scientific evidence in support of fluoridation has been amply prepared and distributed by the American Medical Association, the American Dental Society, The Pennsylvania Department of Health, and the federal Department of Health and Welfare.

All the communities who fluoridate their water supplies report that the additive is tasteless, colorless, and odorless. It is cheap, as North East found out when the machine cost $1136, was installed for $400 by the borough's own employees, and sufficient material to fluoridate 1,000,000 gallons (16 lbs.) cost only $1.20. It is effective in reducing tooth decay up to 70% over non-fluoridated areas. It is harmless to everything -- humans, animals, and plants -- according to documented evidence available from the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

When we vote next Tuesday we must remember that we are only the representatives of the recipients. Those who will benefit from fluoridation are too young to vote. Only the children now in infancy, and particularly those as yet unborn, will gain the maximum benefits. But when they do receive the benefits of fluorine it will last them a life time in stronger teeth and better nutrition from improved mastication.

Since no one can be harmed by fluorine in controlled amounts and the benefits are in documented proof, the only question that remains is this: "Is it worth the cost?" In Warren, the costs will be absorbed by the Water Company. In Youngsville, if the North East material is acceptable, the cost would be 19¢ per day after the equipment is purchased.

The general health of the community will be improved with fluoridation. Will you vote in favor of fluoridation now and get the "thanks" from children and young people in ten, twenty, or thirty years?

FOR THIRTY YEARS, Joe Angel has been in charge of the Garrettsville Water Dept. He reported that the deep wells, 215 to 250 ft., have the most fluorine which was brought about, according to a local geologist, because "before the glacial period Garrettsville was the bottom of a lake." They mix water from shallow wells, 50 ft., which has little or no fluorine with the deep well water to try to level off at 1 p.p.m. so as to meet state requirements. At one time, their only well had 1.88 p.p.m. and no one suffered ill effects and their teeth were strong but slightly discolored and slightly brittle.

The company serves 1600 customers in and around Garrettsville. Fluoridated water is "odorless, tasteless, and harmless", according to Angel, and he added, "What disgusts me is Akron and Kent (Ed. note: nearby cities.) arguing against fluoridated water. I say they're crazy."

Joe's only child, a son, Fay, never had a cavity "until he was half way across Europe with Patton's troops in World War II." Fay lives next door and has a boy and girl, 7 and 9, and they have never had decayed teeth.

Fluoridation "Dollars and Sense"

$18,000 IN DENTAL EXPENSES would have been spent by parents of children in Warren's first, third, and seventh grades if all teeth had been filled or extracted as recommended by the examining dentist, L. W. Krespan. Actually, 869 students have already lost 210 teeth and 1,512 have been filled. These cost $7,000. In contrast, however, the students still carry 178 teeth which should be pulled and 2,470 which should be filled. The total costs of such repairs would be an additional $11,000.

Had Warren fluoridated its drinking water 15 years ago, the dental bill of $18,000 would have been reduced $6,480 as a minimum. The cost of fluoridation would be NOTHING as the Warren Water Company has agreed to absorb the small extra expenses.

Those in the first, third, and seventh grades represent only 29% of the total school population, according to Dr. C. A. Junker, Regional Public Health Dentist, Region III, Pennsylvania State Department of Health. If the remaining 71% have an equal number of dental defects, approximately $70,000 would have to be spent to correct them.

Warren's existing population would gain some benefits in its youngest citizens if the water is fluoridated now. It will mean up to 70% reduction in dental caries for those who are to be born in the future of Warren.

Fluoridation means both "dollars and sense".

A TYPICAL SMALL TOWN, Garrettsville, Ohio, has the added advantage of naturally fluoridated water. Many of the residents take the decay-preventive nonchalantly as Bob Layer who said, "Fluoridation? Oh, that's the stuff in the water that other people make such a fuss over".

Dr. Ermal E. O'Brien, Chief, Division of Dental Hygiene, State Department of Health, Columbus, Ohio, reported by phone that the fluorine content in the fifteen wells at Garrettsville varies from 1.6 p.p.m. to .1 p.p.m. Up until 1940, no attempts were made to control the content at 1 p.p.m., the recommended mixture. Examinations then showed 3.48 de-cayed, missing, and filled teeth for the average 9 to 11 year old; 6.83 decayed, missing, and filled teeth for the average 12 to 14 year old; and 10.11 decayed, missing and filled teeth for the average 15 to 17 year old. Since then they have partially controlled the fluorine content by mixing the water and decay has been reduced 34%, 39% and 25% in the same age categories from youngest to oldest.

Dr. O'Brien pointed out that artificially fluoridated water gives much better results as the control is exact. In Ironton, Ohio, for example, "tests made 5-1/2 years ago revealed that fluoridation had reduced tooth decay in six-year-olds 70% and an overall reduction of 40%". The doctor continued, "most of the fluoridation material is mined -- sodium fluoride, sodium silico fluoride, and the newest and cheapest, fluorspar. The only difference is that naturally fluoridated water runs through areas where the material is naturally present in the soil and artificially fluoridated areas take it from the ground and add it to the water. The statement that fluorides used in the water are a by-product of aluminum manufacture is not true although fluorine is used as part of aluminum manufacturing as it is steel and paint."

"NO COMPLAINTS of fluoridated water are received at the school", commented Leonard Chaffee, principal, who is seen here taking a drink from the school fountain. "Most people just drink the water with no comments and the absenteeism is no higher here than anywhere so it must not be harmful", the educator continued.

Mr. Chaffee called Dr. Max Sternlieb, County Health officer, at Ravenna, and he stated: "I am definitely in favor of fluoridating water. There are definitely less cavities in the communities where it is naturally present or added in controlled amounts".

M. W. Thomas, M.D., reported "no ill effects from fluoridated water. The Garrettsville health is about the same as the average community." The doctor and his wife drink the water and his son did until he entered the Army recently.

ARTIFICIAL FLUORIDATION is accepted with no fear by many communities. In Westerville, Ohio, for example, this Westerville was made 7 years ago by the Water Department Superintendent J. H. Wenger. The water is tested periodically by the Ohio Department of Health and the results reported back to the community by F. H. Waring, Chief Sanitary Engineer. The 7,000 people who drink the water know that the fluorides are often added by Don Matheney, a student at Otterbein College, who works part-time at the Water Department.

Dr. Robert R. Taylor, a Westerville dentist, reported that he had noted a marked decrease in tooth decay among the younger children in the past 7 years. He added that no comparisons will be authorized until the program has been in effect for 10 years so he is not at liberty to claim that the fluorine has caused the decrease in caries. "Quite often students at Otterbein College have no cavities and it can be traced to fluoridated areas", the dentist stated.

"PERFECT TEETH are found in the mouths of the majority of the children of Garrettsville, Ohio", stated Dr. C. W. Hudson, one of the community's two active dentists. "Children brought up on fluoridated water and examined as pre-schoolers (5-1/2 to 6 years of age) are more likely than not to have no cavities", he added.

Dr. Hudson reported that his two sons, one 26 and one 22, are both trained as dentists. The older boy, now in the U.S. Army, has been subjected to two fillings and the younger boy, just graduating from dental school, has had one filling. Neither had cavities in their "baby" teeth.

Dr. Hudson reported that the teeth of the Americans are so deplorable the country over that every dentist working 24 hours per day could never overcome the "backlog". That is why the dentists are for fluoridation, according to Hudson. Prevention of decay is the only answer now. According to the dentist, only 20% of the population have adequate dental attention.

LOOK! NO CAVITIES! The children of Bob and Ruth Laver, the local grocer, have lived in Garrettsville, Ohio, all their lives. They have been examined regularly by Dr. Hudson. They have developed no cavities in their "baby" or permanent teeth. The handsome children are (left to right) Brad, 11, holding 9-months-old Ricky, Jon, twin of Judy on the right, and Kathy, 12.

The fish bowl contains a gold fish and Mrs. Laver reported that the fluoridated water is used on all types of plants although she added, "I can't raise African Violets but the rest of the families seem to so it must be me and not the water". Mr. Laver has lived in the community all his life and his wife arrived there when she was 6 years of age. She provided the information that Bob's teeth were much better than her own but both flashed beautiful smiles with no dentures.

To My Employers, the Taxpayers and Voters of Warren Co.

I have tried to the best of my ability to serve you faithfully for twenty-nine years in the capacity of Pennsylvania State Highway Patrolman, District Game Protector, Deputy Sheriff, and Sheriff, on call twenty-four hours a day.

I am now appealing to you for a promotion to the office of PROTHONOTARY AND CLERK OF COURTS. This is a position for which I feel that I am well qualified, having a background of twenty-nine years practical experience in both criminal and civil law as well as a complete understanding of County Government.

This is subject to your decision at the primaries on May 19, 1959.

First among the Prothonotary candidates.

NUMBER 11 B ON THE BALLOT.

Respectfully,

L. E. (Larry) Linder

LESS FISHING BUT MORE WATER ACTIVITY

Each year less people obtain fishing licenses in this state, but there is no less interest in activities along the streams, rivers, and lakes. In fact the reduction in fishing licenses is not enough to have any effect on the total.

In 1958 the state sold 647,974 licenses. In 1957 it was 687,732. This is about 40,000 less, and the 1957 figure was a little over 53,000 less than 1956. But of course we must remember that 1956 was a record year.

Warren county fishing license sales dropped from 5,498 in 1957 to 5,036 in 1958. Which means 462 less fees, and that many less people buying bait, equipment, and using gasoline to get there. A big share of them may have been tourists who didn't come back.

While this trend is developing we find boat licenses on the increase. And this applies also in Warren county.

Last year motor boat licenses went to 359 Warren county craft. This was 44 more than in 1957. Give us some clean water, held at a consistent level and that figure will move into the thousands. Proof of which is Crawford county which had 1,916 licensed boats due to the created lake at Pymatuning and the resort lake at Conneaut.

There are several Pennsylvania counties which have boats numbering in the thousands due to their water facilities. The total sale of boat licenses in the state was 58,475, a new high, 1,436 greater than 1957. ***

FOREST PROGRAM

A long-range conservation program for our national forests and related lands has been planned ahead to the year 2,000. Consisting of several short-range plans which will represent steps along the way, it encompasses wood harvesting, recreation, research, and many other aspects. It will be discussed at a hearing Friday before the sub committee of forests of the agricultural committee.

A goal of 21.1 billion board feet of sawtimber a year by the turn of the century is the production hope. This will be about a fifth of the expected need by that time, judging by the population and industrial growth.

Outspanning both of these in the pace of its expansion is recreation use. Gone are the days when the forest service was little more than a protective arm for forests that were quite isolated from most of the nation. Today the people are moving into the woodlands and are using them. The service must provide a lumber supply, assure the continuance of forestland, and at the same time make the visitors welcome with facilities that will make the forest areas healthy play spots for our millions.

The program is discussed in a new booklet of twenty-six pages. We lack room to cover it here, and have not had the time to appraise it, but due to the fact that there are not enough of these for general distribution we intend to give you the high points in future columns.

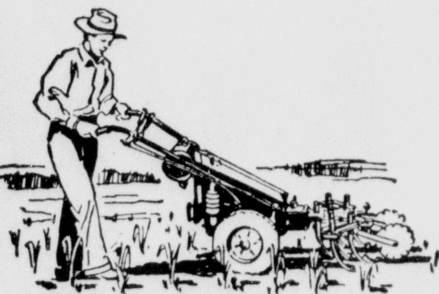

They are your forests and the resources they protect, including our vital water supply, are the backbone of this nation's future. Any plan affecting them should be known by all.

GIFT FOR CANCER. Patty Lanman (l.), chairman of the Y-Teens annual Turnabout Dance, is pictured welcoming Col. and Mrs. Edward Ayres as guest of the affair.

The colonel, 1939 Cancer Crusade chairman, represented the Warren County Cancer unit on behalf of the Y-Teens' willingness to contribute a percentage of the proceeds from the dance to the Cancer fund. The gift amounted to $30.

LEVINSON BROTHERS interviewed by New York columnist.

Samuel Feinberg, who writes for the Women's Ware Daily (the retailers' daily newspaper) flew to Warren from New York City Friday to interview the Levinson Brothers.

Mr. Feinberg is running a series of articles on smaller stores and partnerships competing with large chain firms. His interest was aroused when Levinson Brothers "took on the task discarded by one of the chain giants", that of operating Metzger-Wright, a store owned by Allied Stores Corp. for 11 years.

His interview with the Levinson Brothers will start Friday in his column . . . from where I sit.

COUNCIL COMMANDER. Northwestern Pennsylvania Counties Council Commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is Eugene R. Manfrey, of Warren. He was elected to the post at a recent meeting in Union City.

Manfrey, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Manfrey, Warren, has been a member of the VFW since returning from overseas duty in the Pacific in 1952. During his membership he has held all chair offices of the Warren VFW Post and is presently a past post commander. He is also a past commander of the Military Order of the Cooties, the honor degree of the VFW.

SCHOOL CHILDREN of the Warren borough schools have completed a Junior Red Cross project to aid needy children of the United States and other countries of the world.

Early this spring the youngsters were organized by George Frits into a working Junior Red Cross Club, with two representatives from each of the intermediate grades, junior high and senior high school.

The rooms each filled from one to three boxes of personal items in which a boy or girl may be able to use for healthful grooming. Some items included in each box were a comb, toothbrush and toothpaste, a toy, soap, and many more personal items.

On Wednesday afternoon Jefferson school students (representing the borough schools) met at Red Cross headquarters to make ready the boxes for shipment to the Junior Red Cross Headquarters for final distribution. On hand to handle the task were (l. to r.) kneeling--Judy Larson, Judy Lundahl, William Johnson and Bill Pasquino; standing--Pan Fanaritis, Tom Christie, Sharyn Steele, Sue Lowe, JoAnn Nuhfer, Richard Marietta, Chuck Frantz, Laura Lynn Knupp, Ann Morelli and Mr. Dimino, teacher at the school.
